

GOOD BLADDER HABITS

Mercy Health
Care first

This sheet will provide information to help you maintain good bladder health.

What is normal bladder function?

- It is normal to pass 250-500mL of urine each time you empty your bladder. This may vary with age, pregnancy and with specific medical conditions that affect the urinary system.
- It is normal to empty the bladder 6 – 8 times in a 24-hour period (including not more than once overnight, or twice if you are over 65 years old).
- It is normal to need to empty the bladder every three to four hours during the day.

When the bladder is working well:

- You will need go to the toilet when the bladder is full
- You will make it to the toilet without rushing or leaking urine
- You will be able to defer (put off) going to the toilet to empty the bladder if it is not a convenient time for you.

What can you do to keep your bladder 'healthy'?

- Drink well:
 - For adults, approximately two litres of fluid every day is encouraged, mostly water.
 - Be aware that the recommended fluid intake may vary with weather, exercise and other health conditions.
 - Aim to drink gradually and consistently over the day and avoid drinking large volumes in the evening and overnight.
- Avoid bladder irritants:
 - Some drinks may irritate the bladder and can make you go to the toilet more often or more urgently e.g. coffee, tea, chocolate or cola drinks, alcoholic beverages and soft or artificially sweetened drinks.
 - Aim for no more than two of these drinks per day and avoid them in the late afternoon and evening.
- Avoid going 'just in case':
 - Go to the toilet only when your bladder is full and you need to go.

- Practise good toileting habits:
 - Do not hover over the toilet seat.
 - Take your time to empty your bladder – ensure that you do not rush if you have not completely emptied.
 - If you feel your bladder is not empty after voiding, stand up, sit back down again, lean forwards and have try again.
 - Do not strain to empty, instead try rocking the pelvis backwards and forwards as shown by your physiotherapist if this is a problem for you.
 - Ensure you maintain healthy bowel habits as this assists good bladder function.

- Adopt a good toileting position (see diagram):

- Lean forward with a straight back
- Rest your arms on your thighs
- Place a footstool under your feet so that your knees are higher than your hips
- To empty, relax your stomach muscles (abdominals) and bulge your tummy out.

For more information

If you have any questions or need further advice, please call us:

- Monday to Friday
- 8:00am to 4:30pm

Mercy Hospital for Women - Physiotherapy Department

- Phone: (03) 8458 4141

Werribee Mercy Hospital - Physiotherapy Department

- Phone (03) 8754 3150

In the event of an emergency, please dial 000 for an ambulance or go to your nearest Mercy Health or other hospital emergency department.